INTRODUCTORY NOTE

This Bulletin contains the titles of books in the Virginia State Library, which relate to Virginia and Virginians, the titles of those books written by Virginians and of those printed in Virginia. As it is the intention to increase the Virginia collection as rapidly as the income of the library will permit and to print the additional titles at opportune times, this Bulletin has been entitled Part 1 of A Bibliography of Virginia. It will be observed that only titles of volumes now (October 1, 1915) in the library are included, and that the titles of official editions of laws, journals of legislative bodies, court reports, annual reports of administrative officers, and other official documents, of which the library has a notable collection, do not appear. It is hoped that the titles of published official documents may be printed sometime in 1916 as Part 2 of A Bibliography of Virginia.

An examination of this Bulletin will disclose the absence of some well known books, and long gaps in the sets of reports, proceedings and bulletins of some State associations and institutions. There appear in the present list about 7,000 titles, including some titles of articles in periodicals. A rough estimate of titles still lacking (not including public documents) and selected along the same line as those in the present publication, is 10,000 to 15,000. This will not seem to be an extravagant estimate when it is remembered that Alexandria, Fredericksburg, Winchester, New Market, Harrisonburg, Staunton, Charlottesville, Lynchburg, Petersburg, Norfolk, Williamsburg and Richmond have all been printing centers for more than a century, and some of them publishing centers of no small importance.

The present publication is the result of a plan determined upon eight years ago. The first step toward its accomplishment was the gradual segregation of the Virginia material, which until 1907 had been widely scattered on the shelves. This could be done thoroughly only as the process of general classification and cataloging proceeded. The greater part of the library has now been reclassified and cataloged, and as a result, the Virginia collection now contains everything in the library relating to the State, with some few necessary exceptions. In addition to segregating the Virginia books, notes of Virginia items as they appeared in sale and library catalogs and elsewhere were preserved. All the principal bibliographical works which relate to Virginia and those monographs which contain bibliographical notes of Virginia interest, have been consulted. In the appendix is a list of the bibliographies, which have been freely drawn upon, and for the use of which due acknowledgment is hereby made. Of the printed bibliographies, that compiled by W. C. Torrence, entitled A trial bibliography of Colonial Virginia, and published by the Virginia State Library, has been of special service. Mention should also be made of the helpfulness of Carol M. Newman's dissertation entitled Virginia literature. For the past ten years this Library has had an order filed with the Library of Congress for a copy of every printed catalog card, the title of which related to Virginia. In the period there have been received 1,792 titles. Of this number 596 titles have been used in this publication, the State Library lacking the books corresponding to the remaining titles. Other printed titles from the Library of Congress have been used, but these are due wholly to my selection, as a result of a card by card examination of every one of the 167,000 cards now in the public catalog. For the use of the Library of Congress titles, we here acknowledge our indebtedness. It is scarcely necessary, however, to warn any one interested in State bibliography not to depend too closely upon the selection of titles made by some one else chiefly upon the basis of the title and apparent principal subject matter, and not upon a careful examination of books themselves. To mention only one instance, Bozman's History of Maryland would be passed over at once for Virginia bibliographical purposes, yet an examination of the book, and practical use of it in a library, disclose the fact that it contains a most useful discussion of the Indians of Virginia.

With a few exceptions, the titles of Virginia maps, of Virginia newspapers, of official publications of the Confederate States government, and articles in the Southern historical society papers, do not appear in this Bulletin. Separate bulletins have been published for each group of these titles. Nor will the titles of Virginia books in the Virginia Law Library be found here. At some future time in a later Bulletin it may be possible to include these titles. For this Bulletin it has been deemed advisable to adhere strictly to books at this time in the Virginia State Library.

In the preparation of a work involving so much labor, I have to acknowledge with gratitude the willing assistance of the following Library employees: Mrs. K. P. Minor, Miss Ethel Nolin, Miss Elizabeth Carrington, Miss Irene Harris, Miss Elise Clark, Miss Virginia Jones, Miss Louise Barber, Mr. W. L. Hall, and Mr. F. H. Moore. For useful suggestions, I am indebted to Mr. Morgan P. Robinson, of the Library Staff, and to Mr. David I. Bushnell of the U. S. Bureau of Ethnology.

"The author was undoubtedly Thomas Matthew of Cherry Point, Northumberland, and there is apparently no ground for the conjecture of the historians Campbell and Fiske that it was Thomas, son of Gov. Samuel Matthews. cf. Va. magazine of history and biography, Oct., 1893, v. 1, p. 201."

"The original ms. was purchased from a London bookseller in 1803 by Rufus King, minister to Great Britain. He sent it to Thomas Jefferson who returned it after making a copy (cf. Writings of Thomas Jefferson, 1853-54, v. 4, p. 528) The tract was first printed in the Richmond (Va.) enquirer of the 1st, 5th and 8th of Sept. 1804, from a transcript sent to Jefferson's friend, Mr. Wyeth. Force reprinted this."

"Another copy of the original, made by Jefferson himself, and with a somewhat different introduction, was printed in the Virginia evangelical and literary magazine, Richmond, 1820, v. 3, p. 128-149; reprinted in Virginia historical register and literary note book, 1850, v. 3, p. 61-75, 121-136." —Catalogue of the choice and extensive law and miscellaneous library of the late Hon. William Green, LL. D.; comprising nearly 10,000 volumes in the several departments of literature . . . The collection of works relating to Virginia is more varied and valuable than has probably ever been offered before, and includes the serials of law reports, collected statutes, history, biography, and ephemeral pamphlets. The value of the books is largely enhanced by the critical and explanatory manuscript notes of their late eminently learned possessor; many of them are attractive also by reason of past associations, containing as they do, memorials of distinguished ownership in England and America, autographs, book-plates, manuscript notes, &c. Letter to the Virginia State Library, from Henkel & Co., New Market, Va., dated Aug. 20, 1912. "This book was written, type-set, illustrated, (cuts hand-made), printed, bound, and sold by the late Ambrose Henkel, who built the press (with stone bed) upon which this book was printed. He used a "nigger-head" (ink ball) to put on the ink—both of which he made. He established, in 1806, the first German printing office south of Mason and Dixon's line. The press is now in the possession of his two grandsons, Ambrose L. and Elon O. Henkel, who continue the "Print Shop," established in 1806, by Rev. Ambrose Henkel, aided by his brother Dr. Solomon Henkel, owner of an apothecary shop, established 1797. Henkel & Co."

Tarbox, Increase Niles. Sir Walter Raleigh and his colony in America. Including the charter of Queen Elizabeth in his favor, March 25, 1584, with letters, discourses, and narratives of the voyages made to America at his charges, and descriptions of the country, commodities, and inhabitants. With historical illustrations, and a memoir by the Rev. Increase N. Tarbox, D. D. Boston, The Prince society, 1884. C2 R163 T13. 5438

4 p. l., 329 p. front., port. 22x18cm.

(Added t.-p.: The publications of the Prince society . . . [v. 15])

The charter and various narratives are taken from v. 3 of Hakluyt's collection of early voyages.

"The first voyage to America under the charge and direction of Sir Walter Raleigh, knight, 1584" (p. 107-127) is supposed to be by Capt.
Arthur Barlow. The first part of "The second voyage . . . 1585" (p.
129-142) is probably by Sir Richard Grenville; the remainder (p. 143-180) is by Ralph Lane. "The third voyage . . . 1586" (p. 183-186) is anonymous. "A briefe and true report of the new found land of Virginia . . . by Thomas Heriot," p. 187-244. "The fourth voyage . . .
1587" (p. 245-270) is given anonymously by Hakluyt. A letter from White to Hakluyt, accompanying his account of the fifth voyage, is here appended to the fourth voyage (p. 270-273) "The fifth voyage . . . 1590"
(p. 275-298) is by "Governor" John White. Library of Congress note.

—Journal of Colonel George Washington, commanding a detachment of Virginia troops, sent by Robert Dinwiddie, Lieutenant-Governor of Virginia, across the Alleghany Mountains, in 1754, to build forts at the head of the Ohio. It comprises the history of marches, campings and events, a skirmish with the French, and the death of their leader de Jumonville. The Journal fell into the hands of the enemy, who, in 1756, printed a version of it in French; a new translation of this into English is what is here given in the absence of the original. To complete the history of the expedition an appendix is added in the form of a diary, supplying an account of the battle of the Great Meadows and the capitulation of Fort Necessity; the retreat of the army; with copies of original muster and pay rolls of the Virginia regiment, and other documents connected with this expedition. INDEX

As the arrangement of titles in the preceding pages is alphabetical by authors, there are no references to such authors in this index. Entries have been included in the index under the first words of most of the titles, under the subject words in the titles, and under the names of Virginia printers and publishers. Entries have been made also for the subject words in the notes.

As an example, for works by Thomas Jefferson, consult the main alphabetical arrangement by authors; for books about Jefferson, consult the index.

The figures refer to items, not to pages.
